Rabbi Michael Rascoe

For firefighters, this can be good advice. For life, it is rarely necessary.

Avi, my son, once asked me for advice. He said that everyone else will tell him to fight, but since I rarely do so, if I tell him to fight, then he will know that he must fight. I said that he might need to fight, but there might be another way. If you escalate now, there is no going back. And if he must fight, there should be no harm in trying another way first, because he can always escalate it later. In the end, it was a match and not a fire, and he solved it more amicably by not fighting fire with fire.

This recalls a story supposedly told about Shemuel Ha-naggid, an eleventh-century Jewish polymath* in Muslim Spain. An enemy of his once insulted him in front of the king, and the king told him to cut out the enemy's tongue. Instead, Shemuel treated him kindly. When the king found out, he asked why his order wasn't carried out. Shemuel answered that he had followed it: he cut out the man's evil tongue and replaced it with a kindly tongue.

I don't usually believe in fighting fire with fire unless there is no other recourse. We are in one of these recurring cycles where we believe that not to fight is a sign of weakness (and once in a while, it is). So we retaliate. We fight hate with hate, anger with anger. When we do so, the fight always escalates, the burning problem intensifies into a conflagration. Sometimes, we're better off removing the fuel source, isolating it, or using water.

Once we're in an argument, some irrationality enters: we can't back down since we must be right at all costs; and/or we can't be perceived as weak. We follow a scorched earth policy. We can't admit we made a mistake, or more likely we both made a mistake, and we both may be partly right. Even if we are right, it escalates because we leave the other party no out, and often they need an out with honor. Sometimes, all they need is a way to tactfully back down.

We can quench with words, too. This can only be done if we cool and soothe. Proverb 15:1 is right: A gentle response allays wrath; a harsh word provokes anger. Try the soft approach.

* He started as a poor refugee and became a merchant. His language and writing skills brought him to the attention of the vizier of Spain, who conversed with him. He grew to value his advice so much that he made him his secretary. Eventually, as the vizier was dying, he told the king that all of his great advice actually came from a Jew. The king sought him out, and despite the rule that a Jew not hold an office, the king made him vizier, and later, general. He also was a poet, Talmud scholar, and philanthropist.

A Message from our President

.Dear Congregants,

It is not easy running a temple. The Board of Trustees does its best to make careful decisions to do what's best for our members.

Given the times we live in, where Jews are targeted at houses of worship ... in Pittsburgh, in Texas, in Los Angeles ... the Board remains committed to ensuring the safety of congregants.

Unfortunately, like everything else, the cost of security has risen dramatically recently. As a result, the Board has chosen to add a separate security fee to this year's membership bill. We ask that congregants understand the importance of the guards we have stationed outside our building, and pay this added cost to help defray the price of protection.

L'shalom,

Jaime Siegel, President

August 4th BBQ and Speaker Program, Presenting:

A. J. Sidransky

Friday, Aug. 4, 5:30 PM

Award-winning author A. J. Sidransky returns to Temple Israel of Riverhead to talk about his latest book, Incident at San Miguel. A thriller set during the Cuban Revolution, it details how the Cuban Jewish community, 15,000 strong at that time, was impacted.

Havana, Cuba, December 1958. Two Jewish-Cuban brothers find themselves on opposite sides of Castro's revolution. One dark night, after rescuing a leader of the revolt who was under house arrest, one brother finds himself hunted. The other, an influential attorney, must make a choice: help his brother, placing the whole family at risk, or let Batista's forces capture him. His decision will haunt them both for the rest of their lives. How far will we go to protect those we love? Based on a true story, Incident at San Miguel takes us there.

About the author: A.J. Sidransky writes about ordinary people faced with extraordinary situations and events. His work has been well-received by reviewers and readers in general. Genres include mystery, thriller, and historical fiction. His work has been described as a mystery, wrapped in history, tied in a bow, with a little romance. His works include Forgiving Maximo Rothman, Forgiving Stephen Redmond, Forgiving Mariela Camacho, and The Interpreter. Incident at San Miguel, his newest work, was released May 19, 2023. A.J. Sidransky lives in upper Manhattan with his wife.

July 2023

Dear Fellow Congregant:

Looking forward to the High Holidays, we thought you would like an explanation of Temple Israel's High Holiday ticket process.

With membership, families receive two adult tickets and tickets for all children under age 21. Additional tickets for children over the age of 21 may be purchased for $125 each. Tickets for other adult family members are available at $165 each. Non-members may purchase tickets at $375 each. We are asking that you please add an additional $72 per seat to help defray the cost of synagogue security for the High Holidays.

According to our Temple's long-standing practice, we make High Holiday seats available at no charge to needy individuals, full-time college students, and active military personnel.

To be courteous and fair to everyone, we ask that you consider the following information when ordering your tickets:

1. Each person attending High Holiday services must have a ticket. Tickets are issued for specific seats (as in a theater), and you are expected to occupy the seat designated on your ticket.
2. Tickets are non-transferable.
3. Inter-married spouse members and individual members may reserve tickets for themselves, their spouses, and children.
4. Each year, all but a few seats are reserved in advance; please do not assume that an unoccupied seat is an available seat.
5. Tickets cannot be purchased for non-relatives at the member rates.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation in adhering to the spirit of our ticket process. We are all working diligently to make our High Holiday services meaningful and dignified.

If you have further questions, please call the temple office, 631 727-3191.

We know what it takes to make a strong Jewish community.
Doing our job well is just the beginning.

We believe to be a good funeral director, you should serve the community in times of growth and happiness as well as times of grief. It's not surprising we've served the Jewish community for over 100 years. How we've served is the surprising part. David Rubin and his entire staff work tirelessly in serving the Jewish community, but then, that's part of our philosophy and tradition. We believe to be a good funeral director, you should serve and give back to the community.
